International Applicants:

In addition to the requirements listed for degree or non-degree applicants above, international students must submit an original-language and an official (i.e. notarized) English translation of each transcript to the Office of Graduate Admissions.

Nonnative English Speakers:

Nonnative English speakers must also submit official scores of the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL).

Joint Degree Applicants:

An applicant who seeks to earn a joint degree must submit a separate and complete application to each program and be accepted by both.

The relevant departments must agree upon a plan of study defining what will constitute the joint degree program, and the approved written plan must be on file with the Graduate School before the student may begin the program. If you are considering such an application, please contact the Graduate School (gradad@nd.edu) for further information.
